Building a Wealth Management Business

It is not a capital race — it is a credibility marathon

ANANDRATHI
Private Wealth. uncomplicated

1 Wealth Management Is Not a Capital Business

- A relationship manager cannot handle thousands of clients.
- The business is inherently linear, not exponential.

2 This Is a Business of Patience and Time, Not Speed

- Speed and Capital did not translate into sustainable business.

3 Wealth Management Is a Business of Backward Integration

- Distribution first → Manufacturing later.
- Manufacturing mistakes are far more damaging.

4 Every Leader Must First Be a Relationship Manager

- True empathy for RMs and clients can only be built if there is no administrative leadership.
- Leadership at all levels — CEO, Joint CEO, Unit Heads, Team Leaders—and even support functions like Product must actively contribute as Relationship Managers.

5 Transparency with Clients Is Non-Negotiable

- Zero secrets with the client about how much you earn.
- Transparency protects the franchise.
- True client centricity lies in selling what you buy, not selling what sells.

6 Relationship Managers Do Not Scale Like Startups so built RMs Rather Buying RMs.

- Aggressive hiring alone does not build a wealth business. It takes nearly five years for an RM to become successful.

7 Focus on Wealth & Not on Capital

- Wealth, by definition, is intergenerational.
- Focus on intergenerational wealth, not buoyant capital.
- Being everything to everyone is unrealistic. Stay focused.

8 If You Want RMs to Stay Long, the Platform Has to Think Longer

- Don't change incentive formulae in short term for long term benefits.
- Remuneration should be earned through results, not years of service
