“LET US GROW AND NOT THE WASTE”

It takes hundreds of years for PET bottle waste to degrade naturally

Last year, we recycled nearly 1 500 million PET bottles
into green fibre

“WE ARE THE LARGEST
PET BOTTLE
WASTE RECYCLING COMPANY IN INDIA”

GROWING GREEN:

This financial year, we have come up with the theme of 'Growing Green' with a view to capitalize the opportunity available in our sector and revolutionizing the outcome of our efforts towards reducing the environmental pollution, with GPL becoming the largest PET bottle waste recycling Company in India.

○ Our vision

To become a Global Corporate citizen committed to recycle every PET bottle which is thrown into waste with world class recycling facilities and to create wealth for our stakeholders through conducting business around social and environmental concerns.

○ Our mission

- To be a high performance organization by making the best use of resources and empowering people.
- To be the preferred choice of our customers by providing world class customer services.
- To maintain high levels of quality in our products through innovative Research and technology development in our processes, products and applications.
- Building relationships with stakeholders based on trust, transparency & ethical business conduct.
- To contribute to the cause of making our planet a better place to live in for the present and future generations.

"RECYCLING WASTE INTO WEALTH"

As we all know, the use of Plastic products has been a major cause of concern since long. These days as we move across streets, parks, etc, we see many PET bottles littered around giving not just a bad look but also posing serious threat to our environment. We have seen people, organizations clamoring about reducing the usage of Plastic products, while on the contrary the consumption of PET is growing at an exponential rate, as it offers a user friendly and cost effective packaging solution for all kinds of bottled drinks, beverages, liquor, pharmaceuticals, chemicals, and other liquid products.

However as the consumption is growing, so as the quantum of its waste is increasing at a rapid pace. PET bottle waste being Non-Biodegradable, its recycling is inevitable else piling of it will be the biggest threat to the environment.

Recycling, being the clear solution to the grave problem of excessive plastic waste, we at Ganesh Polytex Ltd. were quick to realize the same. In the last 12 years, we have contributed to the cause of making our planet a better place to live in for the present and future generations by recycling millions of PET bottles and as on today we are one of the largest PET bottles waste recycling companies in India.

At GPL we recycle more than 150 crores bottles annually to manufacture Regenerated Polyester Staple Fibre i.e. RPSF. In order to ensure the continuous availability of raw material, we have developed a unique network of waste collection centers in different cities of the country. We have developed our model over last one decade and we are benefitting in three ways:

- 1. Our raw material cost is cheaper in comparison of material purchased from vendors.*
- 2. Availability of raw material is assured.*
- 3. The model allows us to outsource the labor intensive work of PET bottles sorting.*

Our growth is directly linked with the number of PET bottles we recycle and the recent numbers suggest that in India we don't even have the capacity to recycle the entire available waste. There is a significantly large domestic as well as overseas market for Regenerated Polyester Staple Fibre as it finds applications in the numerous areas ranging from technical textiles, non woven textiles, stuffing in comfortable and lifecycle products and spinning of yarn.

This enlightens the fact that there is immense scope of growth in this sector and we are at the forefront of capitalizing the opportunity.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

OVERALL REVIEW:

The fiscal year 2009-10 was a difficult phase for both, the developed and developing economies, worldwide. The economies were trying to recover from the economic recession which had first hit the industrialized nations of the world in 2007 and which further led to a significant slowdown in growth rate during 2008-09. At the global level, economic growth took root and extended to the advanced economies in the second half of 2009. The pace and shape of recovery remained uneven, thus, making the business environment fragile. However, in spite of the Global business environment remaining un-conducive, our Indian Economy continued to be the second fastest growing economy in the world.

Even during a phase characterized by significantly high capital costs, global shortage of financial capital and a resource constraint for large scale projects, GPL was able to successfully commission a new PET Bottles recycling line of 18000 TPA at its unit situated at Rudrapur (Uttarakhand), thus, becoming the largest player in the PET bottles Waste Recycling Industry across the country with a consolidated capacity of 57600 TPA. The commissioning of the new line has created a milestone in the corporate history of GPL. The Company's other achievements during the year include designation as STAR EXPORT HOUSE by the Ministry of Commerce & Industry. In addition to this, there was a general improvement in plant efficiency, particularly in the areas of raw material usage and energy conservation.

GPL has been constantly evolving and bringing on table new set of products from the recycling of waste PET bottles for better margins. The economies of scale derived from capacity expansion, would certainly contribute to the optimization of costs. During the year, GPL also undertook diversification into manufacturing of cushions and pillows stuffed with RPSF (Recycled Polyester Staple Fibre). Thus, at GPL it's been our continuous endeavor to contribute to the global sustainable development with an objective of moving towards a cleaner and greener environment.

PLASTIC – INDUSTRY STRUCTURE AND DEVELOPMENT:

Plastics have become synonymous with modern life, but are difficult to dispose of and have become a significant source of environmental pollution. Plastic consumption in India has been on the rise for the last few decades and has especially penetrated every sphere of urban life. Presently, the Plastics Industry is worth Rs. 25000 crores, according to news reports. It may be true that the magnitude of plastic usage in India is still a tenth of that in the U.S., but it is critical for Indians to rethink alternatives at this juncture and avoid public health and environmental catastrophes.

Improperly disposed plastic materials are a significant source of environmental pollution, potentially harming life. The plastic sheets bags or bottles do not allow water and air to seep into the earth, thereby reducing the fertility of the soil, depleting underground water and harming animal life. One of the biggest challenges with plastic waste is that it is extremely hard to dispose of and persists in the environment for hundreds of years. Disposal by burning, which according to the claims of plastic manufacturers only releases carbon dioxide and water, actually throws up some of the most poisonous chemicals known to us, like polyvinyl chlorides, polyurethane, polystyrene and acrylonitriles. Also, carbon dioxide and methane produced during plastic burning are greenhouse gases.

With a population of over 1 billion people and a fast growing urban society fashioning its lifestyles after the west, large plastic consumption is perhaps unavoidable. Disposal of plastic waste in a country where municipal waste management systems are already weak becomes a problem of severe proportion and the clear solution to the menacing problem of excessive plastic waste is RECYCLING.

RECYCLED PET BOTTLES – A JOURNEY FROM OUTERWEAR TO INNERWEAR

At GPL, we were quick to realize the fact that Recycling is the only solution to the grave problem of exponentially increasing plastic waste and started the journey of converting waste PET bottles into RPSF.

Our views are being endorsed world over considering the fact that the jerseys worn by the players of the nine teams of the World Cup were made out of Recycled Plastic. The use of recycled Plastic bottles in the Clothing Industry is being supported worldwide as a variable sustainable initiative to protect the environment.

Even if most of the fashion manufacturers aren't socially and environmentally motivated to reduce their own impact on the environment, consumer sentiment may sway them in the right direction. According to Marks and Spencer, 85% of its surveyed customers claimed that the Company's initiative towards PET bottles recycled products have made them happier to shop at the store.

As is the case today, the marketplace is fostering more incentives for consumers to recycle PET. The European Union has been very aggressive in PET bottles recycling legislation. In 2001, all EU countries were required to meet a 15% plastic packaging recycling target, and by 2011, the experts say it will increase to 25%.

Asia isn't too far behind with PET bottles Recycling Industry fast catching up in China followed by Taiwan, Thailand and Indonesia. During 2006, China bought 3.9 million tonnes of PET waste from across the globe to have cheaper manufacturing of synthetic fibre. The Taiwan Textile Research Institute (TTTRI) estimates that about 100,000 tonnes of PET bottles are collected for recycling in Taiwan each year to be processed into yarn for weaving into fabrics.

As things are moving it would not take too long for fabrics made out of PET bottles to get popular with consumers in India, especially for industrial garment and sportswear. The demand is percolating from the buyer's end and we at GPL are at the forefront of capitalizing on the same with the largest PET bottles recycling capacity in India at 57,600 TPA.

In a developing economy, with huge domestic market, the outlook for development of all the Industries is good. The projected and the sustained growth rate of the Indian Economy augers well for the Polyester Industry. Polyester is one of the cheapest fibres and so it is considered as the fibre for the masses. The growth of polyester for the last few years is highest as compared to other man made and synthetic fibres because of its wash & wear characteristics and easy maintenance facilities. The per capita consumption of polyester in India is only 1.6 kg. as compared to 6 kg. in China and 3 kg. for the world. Polyester for non-clothing end use is also holding a major promise in the Country. World over technical textiles consume nearly 30% of the overall production of polyester, while in India it is less than 5%. The market size of technical/non-woven textile in India grew from Rs. 31,000 crore during 2003-04 to Rs. 44,000 crore during 2007-08. Further, as per an internal document prepared by the textile ministry, it is estimated that the technical textile market would grow to Rs.78,060 Cr. by 2014-15 with an annual growth rate of 14%. Also, growth in the market size of yarn spinning & stuffed products is expected to be in double digits. With the sustainable growth of user Industry, there is huge market for Recycled PSF, consumption of which is set to grow at double digit growth due to cost effectiveness.

OPPORTUNITIES AND THREATS:

As far as micro-environment is concerned, the required raw material i.e. PET bottles are available for recycling in abundance. As per the estimates, India produces 5,00,000 tonnes of PET waste every year and due to the increasing use of PET bottles in daily consumption, the amount of waste is expected to grow by leaps and bounds. Further, about 65 per cent of PET bottles consumption is available for recycling. Thus, the indigenous availability of raw material is around 3,00,000 tonnes per annum, which is much more than the aggregate installed capacity of PET recycling across the country.

However, the Industry was challenged by the raising of excise duty on Polyester from 4% to 8% in July, 2009 and which has been further increased by 2% in the Union Budget 2010-11, thus bringing it at a uniform rate of 10%. This poses a challenge as the duty hike would lead to the increase in prices and further aggravate the problems of the Industry. It will have a negative effect on the demand and also prove to be a heavy burden on the profit margins.

The important issue of power cost and Working Capital cost also pose a high threat. The capacity expansion undertaken during the year has simultaneously led to a significant increase in the working capital requirement which is planned to be met through a judicious mix of debt and equity financing.

Despite, the above threats accompanied by higher interest outgo and higher depreciation charge, the Company has been successfully able to register a phenomenal growth in its profitability over the previous year, with profits being up by 107%.

SEGMENT-WISE PERFORMANCE:

The Company is primarily engaged in the business of Recycling waste PET bottles into Fibre and processing of Synthetic Yarn, which forms a single segment.

OUTLOOK:

Investment climate in Textile Industry is being improved. Entrepreneurs and existing players are adopting strategies addressed to growing consuming class. Industry is striving hard to improve quality, productivity and efficiency and introducing global benchmark with the support of modern technology and IT solutions. Focus on development of infrastructure augurs well for the growth of the Industry. Bilateral and multinational trade agreements will facilitate better trade. Pragmatic approach by the government in supporting the Textile Industry will generate employment and growth.

All the expansion / modernization projects of the Company which were under implementation during last year have commenced their operation. The Company is confident of leveraging its consolidated and modern operations as well as the goodwill that it enjoys in the domestic and global markets for a better performance in 2010-11. Hence, our outlook for the next financial year is optimistic.

INTERNAL CONTROL AND RISK MANAGEMENT:

Ganesh Polytex Ltd. has a sound system of internal control over financial reporting of all transactions along with demonstrated efficiencies in operations and compliance of relevant laws and statutory regulations. To ensure that all checks and balances are firmly in place and all internal control systems are in order, regular and exhaustive internal audits are conducted by a professional firm of Internal Auditors. The Audit Committee of Directors, from time to time reviews the adequacy and efficacy of the internal control systems and procedures.

The strategies adopted to achieve growth may make us susceptible to risks, but we are confident that our institutionalized risk management approach and robust reporting systems would enable identification of critical risks beyond certain tolerance levels. Defined policies and procedures are in place, which identify and addresses various risks on a proactive and structured manner.

Market Competition

Since 2005, the Company embarked on an aggressive capacity building strategy in Waste processing that stands at 57600 tonnes per annum. Enhanced capacities coupled with benefits of the synergies have borne fruit and Ganesh Polytex Ltd. today ranks the top pet bottle recycling Company in the country. To maintain its leadership position, Company focuses on utmost customer satisfaction and long term relationship with them through newer and wide choices of products at most competitive prices and prompt services. It is adding new customers from new geographies to broaden its market base. Company's size helps it in optimizing the cost to remain competitive.

Industry Demand

The Indian Economy is expected to grow by a healthy rate of about 8% over foreseeable future, which will accelerate user Industry growth at over 10%. Company's products are user friendly and cost effective substitute of other natural and man-made fibres and the increasing public awareness for keeping the planet green is tilting the balance towards the recycled products. Company has a nation-wide customer base. Exports, spreading over 20 countries, constitute 16% of the revenue. So the Company's revenue is well diversified.

Sourcing

Raw Material, i.e. post consumer pet bottle waste, is available in abundance but its collection and processing for uniform characteristics poses a risk. Wage cost forms the major share in the collection cost, which is on increasing trend due to inflationary pressures. Ganesh Polytex Ltd. is having its own collection centres at major cities of the Country, where used bottles are sourced from rag pickers and flattened after sorting to make it transport-worthy at lowest possible cost. Our collection model allows us consistent availability of raw material at most reasonable cost. Company has employed state-of-the-art raw material processing facilities in order to maintain uniformity in the feed stock during production process. We are striving for enriched product basket in order to combat the rising input cost.

Financial

Company has successfully commissioned its expansion plans in the recent past through raising the required finance. Company's debt equity ratio is 0.90 which is at moderate level. Company's operations are continue to generate cash flows and have ample headroom in meeting committed loan liabilities and increased working capital requirement. Company's market capitalization strengthened from Rs. 6.06 Cr. as on 31.03.2009 to Rs. 69.19 Cr. (post warrant conversion) presently, widening its equity-centric resource mobilization capacity for future expansions.

Ganesh Polytex Ltd. operates in several currency areas. The currencies used in its sales and procurement activities are the Indian Rupee, US Dollar, Euro, and Sterling. Company has foreign exchange hedging policies in place to protect its margins against the adverse effect of rapid and significant foreign exchange movements.

Technology Obsolescence

Company has inducted latest technology and keeps it abreast with technological developments through relevant research and development activities and also hiring and nurturing technical personnel for product development, both in the present as well as in future.

Apart from managing the above risks through proper planning and well framed strategies, Company has taken comprehensive insurance covers for properties, plant and equipment and other assets of the Company to protect from natural calamities and mishappenings, accidents, break-downs etc. the adequacy of cover is monitored consistently.
