Industry Overview

The Media and Entertainment Industry in India is one of the fastest growing sectors of the economy and is expected to grow at an average annual rate of 13.2 per cent to reach ₹ 1.19 trillion (USD 22.1 billion) in 2015. According to the FICCI-KPMG report on the Indian Media & Entertainment (M&E) industry, the M&E industry is expected to register a CAGR of 14.2 per cent to touch ₹ 1,785.8 billion by 2018. Some of the salient features of digitisation are enhanced number of channels and private stakeholder, momentum in crossover movies and crossover audience, increase in global presence of Indian channels and creation of domestic demand for animation and special effects.

The Broadcasting Sector consists of Television (including analog and digital cable TV services, DTH services, IPTV services, HITS and terrestrial TV services) services. The sector has shown significant growth over the years spanning last two decades. Television is projected to grow at compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 14.5 per cent by 2015.

The size of the Television industry in India was estimated at ₹ 417 billion in 2013, and is expected to grow at a CAGR of 16 per cent over 2013-18 to reach ₹ 885 billion in 2018. Aided by digitisation and the consequent increase in Average Revenue Per User (ARPU), the share of subscription revenue to the total industry revenue is expected to increase from 67 per cent in 2013 to 71 per cent in 2018.

Today, India is the third largest Television market after China and USA. The television subscriber base has grown at over 34 per cent per year for the last 20 years and the service providers have also increased to commensurate this growth. In 2003, DTH services were introduced and operators are adding various innovative offerings such as value added services (VAS), interactive services including movie on demand, gaming, shopping etc. Increase in the number of conventional TV channels and increase in the offerings by service providers indicates a healthy competition in the sector.

- The sector comprises of 800 plus satellite TV channels, 100 multi system operators (MSO), 26 pay broadcasters, 60000 local cable operators (LCO), 6000 independent cable operators, seven pay DTH operators, several IPTV service providers and public service broadcaster – Doordarshan (DD).
- DD is the world's largest terrestrial broadcaster with over 1400 terrestrial TV transmitters. DD covers 88 per cent of India's geographical areas and provides coverage to about 92 percent population of the country.
- During 2011-12, TV households in India grew at 4.66 per cent to 150 million. Direct to Home (DTH) services grew at 30.06 per cent to 46.25 million and is expected to reach a subscriber base of 70 million by 2015. DTH is leading the digital distribution as it accounts for more than 80 per cent of all digital TV subscribers in India. Total cable TV subscribers were 94 million including 0.91 million subscribers in notified CAS areas. Registered TV channels grew at 28.04 per cent at 831.
- The number of Cable & Satellite (C&S) subscribers increased by 9 million in 2013, to reach 139 million. Excluding DD Direct, the number of paid C&S subscribers is estimated to be 130 million. This C&S subscriber base is expected to grow to 181 million by 2018, representing 95 per cent of TV households. Of this, paid C&S base is expected to be 171 million in 2013, representing 90 per cent of TV households.

At an aggregate level, the total TV advertising market is estimated to have grown around 9 per cent in 2013 to ₹ 136 billion, lower than the 11 per cent projected in the report last year. Going forward, television advertising in India is expected to grow at a CAGR of 13 per cent over 2013-18, to reach ₹ 220 billion.

Subscription revenue is expected to be the driver of growth for broadcasters, growing at an estimated CAGR of 26 per cent from 2013 to 2018. Increase in the declared subscriber base and higher revenue share is expected to drive up the share of subscription to total broadcaster revenue from 34 per cent in 2013 to 46 per cent in 2018.

India is the third largest television market after China and USA. Television constitutes the most popular mediums of public broadcast with a wide coverage across the spectrum of population. This sector would continue to grow at a double-digit rate due to higher penetration into smaller markets.

Digitisation is expected to be the major game changer in the television industry. Not only will it lead to emergence of more channels, but it will also minimize the capacity constraints in analog cable television distribution platform. It will also improve the quality of viewing and evolve more transparent revenue-sharing models.

The entertainment and media industry has all that it takes to be a star performer of the Indian economy.
