72 Corporate information

At Linc, we may be engaged in the volume-driven business of writing instruments, but our focus is on enhancing organisational value.

This resolve was most visibly showcased during a challenging 2013-14. Consumer sentiment was weak, the rupee volatile and inflation high.

And yet, Linc selected just this moment to report attractive profitable growth:
turnover grew 2.9% but net profit jumped 112.5%.

Linc is engaged in the challenging business of writing instruments.

Driven by the need to generate large volumes at one end and enhance margins at the other.

Over the years, the Company invested in its business – brand, distribution, promotion and scale - to strength its competitive advantage.

The result is that the Company has retained its market share, respect and recall across market cycles.

Mission

To deliver innovative, user-friendly and better-quality products at best value to customers, keeping in mind the prosperity of the Company and its stakeholders

Vision

To establish Linc as a global brand known for its values, assertiveness and the acumen to adapt to an ever-changing environment

Core values

- ▶ Linc recognises that it is in business primarily to satisfy its customers
- ▶ Linc's performance must ultimately ensure increased value in the hands of its stakeholders
- ▶ Linc treats its employees and stakeholders with utmost respect and dignity
- ▶ Linc observes and adheres to the highest standards of ethical corporate behaviour
- ▶ Linc's employees work as a team to continually enhance stakeholder value and serve customers

Our business

Linc Pen and Plastics Limited is a one-stop-shop for writing instruments, pencils (wooden and disposable), sketch pens, geometry boxes and erasers, among others.

Brand

Linc (established in 1994) is more than just another company; it is a brand standing for a simple recall: 'If it is Linc, it must be good.'

Presence

Linc is a leading corporate, largely addressing the growing needs of the second most populous country in the world. Concurrently, it is a global organisation with international alliances and a marketing footprint in over 45 countries.

Manufacturing facilities

Linc's production capacity (including outsourcing) stands at about 2 million writing instruments per day, spread across showpiece manufacturing facilities in Falta (SEZ) and Serakole, both located on the outskirts of Kolkata. These manufacturing facilities are marked by a high degree of automation and integration (extruding, assembling, moulding and packaging), supported by cutting-edge R&D, robust procedural discipline and global certifications (ISO-9001:2008).

Alliances

Linc enjoys a longstanding relationship with Mitsubishi Pencil Co. Ltd., Japan, a global leader in writing instruments. The Company possesses the exclusive rights of distribution, marketing and packaging of Mitsubishi's Uniball brand in India. Mitsubishi picked up a 13% stake (strategic investment) in Linc in 2012.

LINKING COST EFFICIENCY WITH BOTTOMLINE IMPROVEMENT

IN AN ENVIRONMENT MARKED BY COMPETITIVE PRESSURES THAT HAVE RESTRICTED BRANDS FROM RAISING STICKER PRICES, LINC EXPLORED VALUE ENGINEERING IMPROVEMENT

OPPORTUNITIES WITH THE OBJECTIVE TO ENHANCE PROFITABILITY.

Some of Linc's value engineering initiatives comprised the following:

- ▶ Realigned the product portfolio towards value-added products and the strategic phase-out of slow-moving products.
- ▶ Streamlined branding and promotion costs from 2.5% in FY13 to 1.8% in FY14
- ▶ Moderated borrowings and achieved a consequent reduction in interest outflow.
- ▶ Reduced outsourcing, improving operational efficiency and reducing costs

Even though the Company reported only a 2.9% increase in topline, Linc's bottomline increased 112.5% in a challenging 2013-14.

LINKING SALES FOOTPRINT WITH PROFITABILITY ACCRETION

AT A TIME WHEN MOST MANUFACTURERS WOULD HAVE FOCUSED ON THE LARGE INDIAN MARKET, LINC SELECTED TO EMERGE AS A GLOBAL BRAND, APPLING FOR BRAND REGISTRATION IN OVER 50 COUNTRIES.

Linc reinforced its global competitiveness through the following initiatives:

- ▶ Linc evolved its singular focus to widening its international presence in its own brand name
- ▶ Linc increased export revenues from ₹77 crore in 2012-13 to ₹91 crore in 2013-14; the 18% increase was considerably higher than the Company's overall 2% increase in revenues; Linc successfully raised the share of exports in overall revenues from 25% to 29% during the fiscal, with an aim to reach 50%.
- ▶ Linc widened its global footprint by eight countries in 2013-14, taking the total to over 45.
- ▶ Linc dedicated one of its manufacturing locations to service international sales; the shift from outsourcing to in-sourcing strengthened the Company's operations reducing the lead delivery time by about 20 days.

As a result, the Company's EBIDTA margin expanded 250 bps to 7.2% in 2013-14.

“THE COMPANY HAS SHIFTED ITS PORT OF CALL, A STRATEGIC SHIFT THAT WILL ENHANCE MARGINS; INCREASED PROMOTIONAL SPENDING WILL TRANSLATE INTO A GREATER OFFTAKE OF BRAND-SENSITIVE PRODUCTS.”

- Deepak Jalan, Managing Director

Q: How would you review the performance of the Company during the last financial year?

A: The last financial year was one of the most significant for us in a long time. The reason is simple: for years, we addressed a volume-driven business in a volume-driven way through the launch of products that addressed the largest segment within our business. The time has come to graduate to a more effective strategy.

Q: Which strategy?

A: Linc graduated from a volume-driven approach to a value-driven one. The volume-driven approach, which really revolves around the manufacture of products around the sub-₹5 price point, is one marked by a relatively low quality requirement. As a result, this segment has low entry barriers, which enhances the intensity of competitive action. However, over the last few years, we began to notice an interesting reality: that there is a greater traction of the Indian consumer towards better-priced products – products that are driven by aesthetics and writing quality. As an opportunity-seeking organisation, we are responding to this reality with speed, products and branding.

Q: Did this actually transpire during the last financial year?

A: One could see the impact of this strategic shift in three realities during the last financial year. The Company grew its revenues by only 2.9% even as the industry grew by about 6-8%. What appeared to be a case of industry under-performance was, in effect, deliberate; the Company consciously selected to vacate specific slow-moving products. The result of this conscious product phase-out resulted in a deliberate revenue draw-down, but more importantly liberated our financial and manufacturing resources that could then be deployed for the manufacture of more profitable products. The evolution in our product mix can be explained from a growth of over 30% in revenues from the ₹10-and-above pen segment in the last three years.

Q: What was the metric that you would like to draw shareholder attention to?

A: Margins! At Linc, we recognise that we are in business to enhance value, not just market share; to be the best and not necessarily be the biggest. Size is a byproduct in our journey towards excellence, not necessarily the singular focus. There is no virtue in market share if that does not translate into enhanced profitability. In line with this strategy, the Company focused on value-added products and the result was visible in our enhanced EBITDA margins: 4.7% in 2012-13 to 7.2% in 2013-14.

Q: What is the other key achievement which you would like to highlight?

A: The correlation between our brand-spend and profits, which is really an index of our brand strength translating into a consumer pull. Last year, we invested ₹3.15 crore in our brand. For every rupee that we invested in our brand, we generated ₹98 in revenues compared to the previous year's corresponding revenue of ₹62. This shows that our brand returned more potent numbers during the year under review, a reality that should stand us in good stead across the foreseeable future.

Q: What is the one development that gave you a great deal of pleasure?

A: Our ability to increase prices after years of price erosion. This was not as easy as it appears for an important reason. For years, we priced each of our writing instruments at ₹5 each; the next pricing slab was ₹10 per unit and there was a challenge in being able to price in between because of a resistance in paying anything more than ₹5 because of a curious reality – the paucity of finding loose incremental change to pay for the pen. The challenge then was in trying to addressing the problem of loose change on the one hand and increasing realisations on the other. During the year under review, we cracked both problems through a unique approach – we priced three writing instruments for ₹20, the first ever time that such a bunching was attempted within our industry. This immediately raised our realisations; besides, it generated incremental sales through the creation of a new price point for the first time within our sector.

Q: What is your take from the Company's working during the year under review?

A: The big take is that the Company has shifted its port of call, a strategic shift that will enhance margins; increased promotional spending will translate into a greater offtake of brand-sensitive products. In view of these realities, I am optimistic that the Company is headed for better days.

BUSINESS STRATEGY

Innovation

Linc aspires to become the world's most trusted stationery company, respected for its quality, innovation and product value.

Relationships represent the basis of the Company's growth strategy: with dealers, customers and alliance partners, making it possible for the Company to introduce and market products with efficiency.

Linc is actively carving a niche in the semi-premium segment of the writing instruments sector. The Company introduced a new product (Twinn) a first of its kind with a pen on one side and a pencil on the other in 2013-14.

Logistics

Linc ensures anytime anywhere product availability - in India and select countries, emerging as a globally-respected writing instruments brand.

The Company is enlarging its global footprint by extending into under-penetrated markets to address the growth in global office stationery, supplies and services and outperform the projected global CAGR of 3.63% in 2012-2016 (Source: Research and Markets, March 2014).

Linc expanded its footprint to eight new countries in 2013-14. As a prudent strategy, Linc optimised the number of distributors by selecting to focus on the most appropriate partners, leading to faster revenue accretion.

Quality

Linc is focused on the research and manufacture of quality writing instruments that hold the potential of being positioned as industry benchmarks.

Linc delivers products that adequately address consumer needs, generate a consumer surplus, reinforce customer relationships and ensure successful line extensions.

The Company enhances quality via continuous operational monitoring. The Company's Falta unit was ISO 9001:2008-certified in 2014. A 5S quality management system has enhanced productivity.

Operational efficacy

Linc has implemented a variety of techniques, systems and tools in attaining sustainable improvement across key operational metrics.

The 5S helped halve the rejection rate in 2013-14. The Company delivers the right product to the right place at the right time in the right quantity, minimising wastage and enhancing flexibility.

Brand building

Linc focuses on building enduring relationships between the product and customers as a means of brand segregation. Linc is building a unique portfolio of stationery products through customer and market research.

Linc is addressing the niche mid-segment between the premium and mass segments.

The Company's advertisement investment of ₹3.15 crore accounted for about 1% of the Company's revenues in 2013-14.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Economic overview

The Indian economic growth continued to be slow for another straight year with the country recording a GDP growth of 4.7%. The year 2014 is likely to be a 'recovery year', with economic growth recovering, inflation easing and the Indian currency remaining largely stable.

Indian writing instruments industry

The ₹3000 crore Indian writing instruments industry has a large unorganised sector estimated at around 20-25%. The market for writing instruments below ₹15 a unit grew at 7-8%, whereas the demand for pens above ₹15 grew 8-10% annually. Linc possessed an all-India market share of 10%, retaining its position among the top three Indian players and accounting for the largest share in Eastern India.

Indian stationery market

The Indian stationery industry is classified into the segments of office stationery, school stationery, paper products and computer stationery. The country's stationery market is catalysed by industrial growth and the expansion of its education sector. A large number of international brands operate independently in India or in association with Indian manufacturers and distributors such as Reynolds, Parker, Cross, Mont Blanc and Pierre Cardin, among others.

The bulk of offtake in the Indian stationery market is moving from the unbranded to the branded, catalysed by frequent (students and office workforce) and occasional users (housewives and literate manual workers).

The domestic pens market can be divided into ball point pens and gel pens. Ball point pens account for a 72% share of the market while gel pens constitute the rest. Interestingly however, gel pens are becoming increasingly popular among students while the use of marker pens are growing fast following increased use in the corporate sector.

Close to 80% of the revenues of the country's pens industry is derived from products priced below ₹15 per unit

Close to 80% of the revenues of the country's pens industry is derived from products priced below ₹15 per unit; a small revenue percentage is derived from pens priced between ₹100 and 300.

Consumption catalysts

Population growth: The country's population growth is expected to sustain the offtake of writing instruments. India's population grows annually by 1.58% corresponding to an increase in 20 million people. Besides, India enjoys a unique advantage in that around 15% of its population can be classified as middle-class (usually the largest consumption segment within an economy).

Incomes: The sustained increase in per capita incomes is increasing disposable incomes, translating into increased spending on writing instruments. For instance, per capita incomes increased 10.4% to ₹74,920 in 2013-14.

Besides, the number of 175,000 Indian millionaire households strengthened its position from 16th highest in the world to 15th highest, with the projection that India could emerge as the seventh wealthiest nation by 2018. This increase in affluence could translate into a stronger offtake of premium writing instruments.

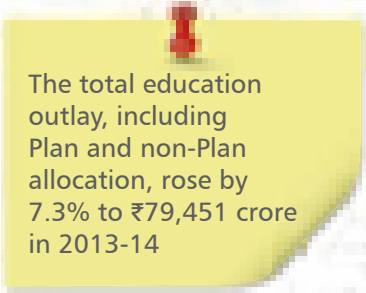

Demographics: More than 50% of India's population is below the age of 25 and around 65% below the age of 35, making India one of the youngest countries. As an extension, this combination of youthfulness and economic productivity is catalyzing the offtake of premium writing instruments.

Urbanisation: An Index Mundi study indicates that India's urban population has grown by 2.47% annually over the last decade, making it the fastest urbanising country in the world. India's urban population is expected to increase from 31% to 40% by 2020 on an enlarging population, strengthening prospects for writing instrument brands.

Literacy: The Indian literacy rate stands at 74.04%.

Government priority: The Union Budget 2013-14 proposed an education outflow of ₹65,867 crore, against ₹61,427 crore in 2012-13, representing a 17% increase. School education, with an enrollment of more than 220 million, was allocated ₹49,659 crore against ₹45,969 crore in the previous year. The total education outlay, including Plan and non-Plan allocation, rose by 7.3% to ₹79,451 crore in 2013-14 from ₹74,056 crore during 2012-13.

The total education outlay, including Plan and non-Plan allocation, rose by 7.3% to ₹79,451 crore in 2013-14

Government schemes: Outlays to the Rashtriya Madhyamik Shiksha Abhigyan (RMSA) increased from ₹3,124 crore in 2012-13 to ₹3,983 crore in 2013-14. The Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan (government's flagship elementary education programme to provide universal primary education to children between 6-14 years) sought to open new schools in those habitations without schooling facilities and strengthening existing school infrastructure. The government allocated ₹27,258 crore to the Sarva Shiksha Abhigyan for FY14. The Government allocated ₹3,692 crore towards Kasturba Gandhi Balika Vidyalaya (KGBV) in 2013-14. After the RTE Act came into existence, an additional 1,030 KGBVs were sanctioned, taking the total number to 3,600 across the country. A presentation made by the HRD Ministry to the Consultative Committee expressed that Rashtriya Uchhatar Shiksha Abhiyan (RUSA) will increase the gross enrollment ratio from 18% to 30% by 2020.

REFILL MORE

Refill More, a unique initiative by Linc Pen & Plastics Ltd was started in 2010. It aims at ushering in sustainability through the recycling of pens and encouraging the reuse of refills.

As a part of this campaign, Linc Pens placed Refill More bins at strategic points across major schools in Kolkata, which allows students/teachers to dispose used/damaged pens. Once the bins are full, the school contacts the Linc Office which collects these bins and sends them to its factory at Serakole for onward recycling. At the end of the year, Linc felicitates the school with the highest number of pens collected.

The aim for FY14-15 is to associate with more NGOs, nature clubs, NSS departments and environmental groups across schools and colleges in India.

SPELLINC

Linc Pen & Plastics Ltd pioneered the inter-school spelling competition in India in 1999. What started as recreational activity for Linc employees has since spiraled into a CSR initiative that catalyses literacy.

From a humble beginning where a handful of schools participated at Kolkata to achieving a participation of 5.25 lac students from 1200 schools across eight cities in the country, Spellinc has grown into a brand of its own.

The year 2013-14, which was also the 15th year of SPELLINC, witnessed the first National Final held at Kolkata on 7th May 2014 where La Martiniere for Girls were adjudged national winners. This year, automobile giant Renault India associated with the event, recognising its huge potential.

This event also provides Linc an opportunity to sample its latest products to students, teacher, principals and school authorities.

In the coming year, we intend to take Spellinc to greater heights and expand to more corners of the country.

WRITE-O-VALUES

This unique concept was the brainchild of Linc Pens to encourage students to improve their handwriting along with instilling in them much-required moral values. Currently, in its
