This model enables the Company to deliver safe mobility and enhanced tourism experiences while generating long-term value for stakeholders.

Input

Project Development

- » Projects are secured through long-term government tenders, typically spanning over 30+ years.
- » These contracts ensure operational stability and visibility of returns across the concession period.

Operations

Operational Focus

- » SGFRL manages the design, construction, operations, and maintenance of ropeways, ensuring passenger safety, efficiency, and compliance with regulatory standards.
- » A visitor-first approach drives value creation, with services designed to enhance comfort and convenience.

Growth Outlook

SGFRL's business model is scalable across India, with strong alignment to national programmes such as the Parvatmala Pariyojana. With robust contractual safeguards, multiple revenue streams, and a replicable project framework, the Company is well-positioned to expand its footprint in Funicular Railways Ropeways infrastructure and tourism-linked services.

Revenue

Revenue Framework

- » Ticketing Income: The primary source of revenue, with ticket prices pre-defined in the tender conditions.
- » Escalation Clause: Ticket tariffs include an in-built escalation mechanism, ensuring revenue growth over the concession period.
- » Ancillary Business: Additional income streams are derived from facilities such as accommodation, shopping complexes, parking, food courts, and Kids Zone, as permitted under the tender framework. These services not only improve ROI but also enrich the visitor experience.

Outcome

Value Creation

- » For Visitors: Affordable, safe, and comfortable mobility solutions to access challenging terrains and pilgrimage sites.
- » For Communities: Boosts local economies through tourism-led growth, business opportunities, and job creation.
- » For Shareholders: A predictable revenue stream from ticketing, supplemented by ancillary services that strengthen margins and returns.
- » For Government & Partners: Demonstrates a successful PPP framework, aligning with the Government of India's vision for sustainable transport infrastructure.

India's Growth Story

India continues to demonstrate strong economic momentum, with real GDP expanding by 6.5% in FY 2024–25, driven by robust consumption, investment, and infrastructure development. The construction sector grew by 9.4%, while Gross Fixed Capital Formation (GFCF)—a measure of investment—rose by 7.1% for the year, reflecting healthy demand and confidence in India's growth trajectory.

Policy Push for Ropeways

As part of its commitment to improving regional connectivity, the Government of India launched the Parvatmala Pariyojana under the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways. The scheme aims to develop over 250 ropeway projects spanning 1,200 km in the coming years, using a Public-Private Partnership (PPP) framework.

- To incentivise private participation, the Government provides 60% construction support under the Hybrid Annuity Model (HAM), compared to 40% support for national highways.
- The initiative also falls under the "Make in India" programme, promoting indigenous manufacturing of ropeway components, ensuring cost efficiency, and enhancing safety standards.
- Ropeways are not only seen as a tourism enabler in hilly regions but also as a viable mode of urban public transport, reducing congestion and pollution while enhancing last-mile connectivity.

Benefits to Society

The ropeway development drive under Parvatmala is expected to yield broad-based benefits across the economy and society, including:

- Economic Engines of Growth – Infrastructure-led development driving state and national growth.
- Job Creation – Employment opportunities in construction, operations, and ancillary services.
- Tourism Development – Improved accessibility to pilgrimage and hill destinations.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT

Global Economic Overview

The global ropeway and cable car industry has been witnessing significant growth, driven by increasing urbanization, rising tourism, and the need for sustainable transportation solutions. Ropeways are being adopted not only as tourist attractions but also as eco-friendly public transport systems in hilly and congested regions worldwide. Countries in Europe, South America, and Asia have already established ropeway systems as alternative mobility solutions. The emphasis on reducing carbon emissions and fuel consumption has further accelerated investments in ropeway infrastructure globally.

In the tourism and pilgrimage sector, ropeways are playing a pivotal role in improving accessibility to remote destinations, shrines, and hill stations. Global case studies highlight their ability to reduce travel time, provide safety, and boost local economies by increasing visitor inflows. Funicular and ropeway systems are also gaining acceptance for last-mile connectivity in urban areas, easing traffic congestion and complementing metro and bus networks. This trend is expected to continue with governments encouraging public-private partnerships and foreign investments in infrastructure.

The industry is also benefiting from advancements in technology, including automated control systems, enhanced safety mechanisms, digital ticketing, and energy-efficient operations. Many global players are focusing on developing ropeways with higher passenger capacity, durability, and minimal environmental impact. With climate sustainability becoming a key agenda, ropeways are considered a green mode of transportation with lower land disturbance compared to conventional road projects. These factors make ropeways a vital part of future mobility planning.

Indian Economic Overview and Outlook

The Indian ropeway and cable car market is emerging as one of the fastest growing segments in the country's infrastructure sector. With increasing focus on boosting tourism, decongesting urban centers, and improving connectivity in hilly terrains, ropeways are being promoted as a safe, efficient, and eco-friendly mode of transport. The Government of India has identified ropeways as a priority sector and is actively encouraging investments through public-private partnership (PPP) models.

The launch of the National Ropeways Development Programme – Parvatmala Pariyojana under the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways is a key milestone for the sector. The programme aims to develop ropeways across India to improve mobility, particularly in difficult-to-access regions, tourist hubs, and pilgrimage centers. Several ropeway projects have already been awarded under this initiative, and more projects are in the pipeline, creating a robust opportunity landscape for developers like SGFRL.

The Indian tourism sector, a major driver of ropeway demand, continues to grow rapidly with increasing domestic travel and government-backed infrastructure upgrades. Ropeways are becoming a preferred mode to provide last-mile connectivity to religious shrines, hill stations, and adventure tourism destinations. At the same time, states such as Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh, Maharashtra, and Jammu & Kashmir are increasingly adopting ropeways as sustainable alternatives to road expansion projects in fragile ecosystems.

Rising awareness of environmental sustainability is also shaping the demand for ropeways in India. Ropeway projects require minimal land acquisition, have lower carbon emissions, and cause less ecological disturbance compared to traditional road construction. This makes them particularly attractive for hilly and forested regions, aligning well with India's climate commitments. With growing policy support and positive public acceptance, ropeways are set to become a critical part of India's transport and tourism infrastructure.

Against this backdrop, SGFRL is strategically placed to leverage its experience and expertise in developing and operating funicular ropeways. With its successful execution of India's first funicular ropeway project at Saptashrungi Gad, the Company has built a strong foundation to expand into other geographies and projects being rolled out under the Parvatmala Pariyojana. This positions SGFRL to benefit directly from the expanding Indian ropeway market over the coming years.

Future Outlook

The outlook for the ropeway industry in India remains highly positive, supported by strong government initiatives, rising tourism, and growing acceptance of ropeways as an efficient mobility solution. Under the Parvatmala Pariyojana, the Government aims to develop multiple ropeway projects across hilly and pilgrimage regions, offering significant opportunities for private players. This programme, along with state-level tourism development policies, is expected to accelerate the adoption of ropeways in the country.

For Suyog Gurbaxani Funicular Ropeways Limited, the successful development of the funicular ropeway at Saptashrungi Gad Temple provides both credibility and expertise to explore new projects. With increasing emphasis on public-private partnerships, the Company is well-positioned to bid for upcoming ropeway developments across India. Its prior experience in handling regulatory, technical, and operational challenges offers a competitive edge in scaling operations.

Looking ahead, SGFRL plans to strengthen its presence in the ropeway sector by targeting new projects in pilgrimage centers, tourist destinations, and urban mobility solutions. The Company will also focus on adopting advanced technology, enhancing passenger safety, and building sustainable infrastructure in line with global best practices. With supportive government policies, rising domestic travel, and favorable market trends, SGFRL anticipates robust growth opportunities in the medium to long term.

Risks and Concerns

The ropeway and funicular industry in India, while offering immense opportunities, is also exposed to certain risks that may affect growth and operations. One of the key risks is the regulatory and approval process, as ropeway projects require multiple clearances from central, state, and local authorities. Any delay in obtaining approvals or change in government policies can impact project timelines and cost structures.

Another area of concern is project financing and capital intensity. Ropeway projects involve significant upfront investment in construction, technology, and safety infrastructure. Delays in financial closure or cost escalations due to inflation and foreign exchange fluctuations in imported equipment can affect project viability. Availability of long-term financing at competitive rates remains a critical success factor for developers like SGFRL.

Operational risks are also relevant, particularly for ropeways operating in hilly terrains and high-traffic pilgrimage destinations. Factors such as natural calamities, adverse weather conditions, and mechanical failures could disrupt operations. Ensuring robust maintenance, trained manpower, and adherence to global safety standards is essential to minimize these risks and maintain passenger confidence.

The Company is also exposed to market risks related to variations in tourist footfalls and changing consumer preferences. While ropeways at pilgrimage centers tend to have consistent demand, external factors such as pandemics, travel restrictions, or regional disturbances can reduce passenger inflows. Continuous monitoring of demand trends and diversifying project locations can help mitigate such risks.

Lastly, increasing emphasis on environmental and social concerns requires ropeway developers to adopt eco-friendly practices and engage with local communities. Resistance from stakeholders or concerns regarding ecological sensitivity of project sites could delay implementation. SGFRL recognizes these risks and is committed to sustainable practices, compliance with regulations, and transparent stakeholder engagement to minimize potential challenges.

Internal Control Systems and Adequacy

The Company has in place adequate internal control systems commensurate with its size and nature of operations, ensuring accuracy in financial reporting, safeguarding of assets, operational efficiency, and compliance with applicable laws and regulations. Internal audits are conducted periodically by independent auditors, and the findings along with corrective actions are reviewed by the management and monitored by the Audit Committee of the Board. The Company has also implemented structured digital systems, including the Structured Digital Database (SDD) as mandated under SEBI (PIT) Regulations, thereby strengthening compliance, enhancing transparency, and minimizing risks of manual lapses. Overall, the Board believes that the internal control framework is robust, effective, and continuously upgraded to meet evolving business and regulatory requirements.

Opportunities

- Government-Backed Infrastructure Push: Schemes like Parvatmala Pariyojana are providing unprecedented opportunities for ropeway developers.
- Tourism Revival: With increasing domestic travel and spiritual tourism, especially post-pandemic, SGFRL's presence in religious sites is strategically beneficial.
- Urban Transport Alternatives: Ropeways as a solution for congested cities offer long-term opportunities in urban mobility.
- Technological Innovation: Adoption of advanced automation, energy-efficient motors, and safety controls can improve SGFRL's operational efficiency and lower lifecycle costs.
- Sustainable Transportation: Ropeways are eco-friendly and cost-effective, aligning with India's net-zero and green development targets.

This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the audited financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the audited financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Board of Directors are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Audited Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the audited financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these audited financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the audited financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal financial controls relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls system in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the audited financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the audited financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the audited financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the audited financial statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the financial statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the financial statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the audited financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We have conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the “Guidance Note”) and the standards on auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under section 143 (10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting includes obtaining understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risk of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

A Company’s Internal Financial Control over Financial Reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company’s internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that

- (1) pertains to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transaction and dispositions of the assets of the company;
- (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and
- (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company’s assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

Because of inherent limitations of internal controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatement due to error or fraud may occur and not to be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were effectively as at 31st March, 2025, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by Institute of Chartered Accounts of India.
