International Market

Global iron ore prices have remained within a range of $95 to $110 per ton so far this year, currently hovering around $102/t. The first half of the year was supported by weather related production losses. The second half will see increased supply and might put a lid on iron ore prices.

Geopolitical tensions continue to impact global demand and supply, while China's stimulus measures to boost consumption—including direct cash transfers to support population growth—are expected to lend some demand support. 2025 iron ore prices in China are expected to range between US$90–105/t, averaging around US$97–98/t. The World Steel Association, however, anticipates China's steel demand to decline by 2% in 2025 and by 1% in 2026 as the housing market stabilizes.

Domestic Market

Iron ore prices (NMDC – Fines 64Fe) have been range bound except seasonal variation between Rs4500-5500/t. Iron ore prices are expected to remain firm with the monsoon finally receding.

Iron ore pellet prices have followed the same trend and has traded within a narrow band of Rs.8500 to Rs. 10,000 per/t YTD, with current levels around Rs. 9,750/t. Same trend to continue for 2HFY26.

According to the World Steel Association, India's steel demand is expected to maintain strong momentum, growing by 9% in both 2025 & 2026, supported by sustained expansion across all major steel-consuming sectors. By 2026, India's steel demand is projected to be nearly 75MnT higher than in 2020. Demand will be driven by robust growth in infrastructure and construction—spurred by government-led initiatives such as the National Infrastructure Pipeline and Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (PMAY).
