Indian economy is the second fastest growing economy in the world. Despite this, it ranks a dismal 84 out of 144 countries in terms of its global competitiveness for infrastructure

To correct this anomaly and maintain the economic growth the government of India plans to invest a sum of USD 1 trillion in the infrastructure sector during the twelfth five year plan (2012-17).

Viewing this huge opportunity Burnpur Cement Limited (BCL) invested a sum of ₹ 197 cr towards doubling its cement manufacturing capacity from 1,000 TPD to 2,000 TPD by 2014 and also integrating backward through adding an 800 TPD clinkerisation plant (with a provision to enhance the same to 2,000 TPD).

BCL forayed into the cement manufacturing segment in 1986. For over two decades it has continued to concentrate in this segment. Avoiding any diversifications it continued to strengthen its presence in this sector.

With 1,000 tonnes per day (TPD) of cement manufacturing capacity, 27 years of experience and product supplies to large reputed industrial concerns. BCL has emerged to be one of largest and most reputed cement manufacturers in the Eastern India.

Vice-Chairman's review

Performance highlights

The year 2012-13 has been a record year for the Company as its revenues increased 77.79% from ₹ 4,724.40 lacs in 2011-12 to ₹ 8,399.37 lacs. We reported an EBITDA and PAT of ₹ 858.49 lacs and ₹ 316.71 lacs in 2012-13 as against ₹ 442.86 lacs and ₹ 102.04 lacs respectively in 2011-12. The capacity utilisation at the plant increased to 58% as the production increased from 1,11,260.65 MT in 2011-12 to 1,74,348.30 MT in 2012-13.

Our position

The Company is well-placed in the industry and is one of the largest and most reputed cement manufacturing units in eastern India. The Company being located in Asansol (West Bengal) is in close proximity to raw material suppliers and customers (in West Bengal, Jharkhand and Bihar) resulting in low logistics cost. The Company continues to focus on product quality, cost reduction, after sales service and timely delivery as a result of which most of our customers trust us and prefer doing business with us.

Industry optimism

The cement industry in India is poised to witness significant growth in the coming years in terms of capacity addition and modernization given the government of India's plan to invest a sum of USD 1 trillion in the infrastructure sector. India currently has a cement manufacturing capacity of 324 million tonnes per annum (MMTPA) and operates at an average of 75-80% capacity utilisation. (Source: IBEF)

According to a report by Credit Suisse the cement demand in India is likely to grow by 5% in FY2013 and

7% in FY2014 as a result of a high demand from the housing and infrastructure segments which is likely to push up the demand for building materials by 7-8%. This growth in demand would be driven by recovery in rural housing, roads and railways segment. (Source: Credit Suisse)

Housing sector in India accounts for 2/3rd of the cement demand and rural housing 40% of the total. The demand for housing in India is expected to grow at a CAGR of 8%. Majority of this growth would come from the rural areas backed by central and state government schemes and upgradation of individuals houses to 'pucca' houses. Under the Indira Awas Yojana (IAY) scheme the government increased allocation per household from ₹ 45,000 to ₹ 70,000 and from ₹ 48,500 to ₹ 75,000 in hilly and difficult areas resulting in an increase in budgetary allocation from ₹ 11,075 cr in 2012-13 to ₹ 15,184 cr in 2013-14. (Source: Credit Suisse)

The Company has invested a sum of ₹ 197 cr (40% capex already done) in setting up a green field integrated cement plant in Patratu (Ranchi, Jharkhand) with an initial manufacturing of 800 TPD of clinker and 1,000 TPD of cement.

Roads sector in India witnessed a major turnaround during the year as the finance minister announced development of 3,000 km of new road projects in Gujarat, Maharashtra, Madhya Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh. Moreover, the government targets awarding 9,600 km of new road projects in FY14.

The Indian Railway expects to attract investment worth ₹ 1 lakh crore in PPP projects during the twelfth five year plan. These projects include laying down of new tracks and platform construction which is likely to boost cement demand. (Source: IBEF)

Moving ahead

To capitalise on these huge opportunities coming up in the infrastructure coming up in the Company plans to expand manufacturing capacity and graduate to an integrated manufacturer through setting up a clinkerisation plant.

The Company has invested a sum of ₹ 197 cr (40% capex already done) in setting up a green field integrated cement plant in Patratu (Ranchi, Jharkhand) with an initial manufacturing of 800 TPD of clinker and 1,000 TPD of cement. The funding of this project has been done at a debt:equity of 1.73:1. The Company expects to commission 1,000 TPD grinding unit by December, 2013 and the clinkerisation unit by April, 2014. Post commissioning our plant would become the only second integrated cement plant in the entire Eastern India.

On commissioning of the clinkering unit, the Company shall become 100% self-sufficient in terms of clinker requirement which is a primary raw material used in production of cement. This would not only ensure raw material security but also reduce manufacturing costs significantly. Moreover, the plant being located very close to thermal power plant shall be able to procure fly ash at low transportation costs.

To further enhance our passion for product quality we have equipped the plant with X-ray fluorescence (XRF) spectrometer which has the ability to do online testing of product quality and PLC automation system which would enable 100% automation of operations. Plant automation would reduce downtime and enhance operational efficiency resulting in higher capacity utilisation.

This plant would also enable the Company to expand geographical spread and enter new markets of Orissa and Uttar Pradesh. On stabilization of the clinkering unit, the Company has further plans to enhance its clinkering capacity (to 2,100 TPD from 800 TPD) and cement manufacturing capacity. Once these expansion are complete the Company would be in a position to produce OPC, PSC and PPC cement.

Message to stakeholders

We expect timely commissioning of our projects as almost 60% of the work in grinding unit and 40% work in clinkering is already complete. Going forward the new plant would stabilize operations in 2014-15 and achieve capacity utilisation of 75% which shall increase to 90% from 2016-17 onwards.

We are optimistic of achieving a topline of ₹ 250 cr by 2017-18, thereby continuing to enhance value for all stakeholders. On behalf of the entire BCL's team, I thank you for your continued support and trust in us.

Mr. Ashok Gutgutia
Chairman and M.D.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION & ANALYSIS

Business Environment

In India, cement production has increased rapidly during the last few years. Indian cement industry is performing well with the growth in infrastructure and housing segments. The demand for cement being a derived demand depends primarily on the industrial activity, construction activity and investment in the infrastructure sector. While growth in cement production and consumption in 2012-13 was not at all encouraging, there is some hope of recovery in the ongoing fiscal because of expected revival in the economy growth in general and the construction sector in particular.

Cement production rose by 7.3 per cent in October 2012 to 199.1 lakh tonnes. This was over a 1.5 per cent growth in the corresponding month a year ago. When compared to September, production was nine per cent up during the month. During the April-October 2012 period, cement production grew by 8.4 per cent compared to 2.9 per cent in the year-ago period. Low base and improved demand is likely to have aided the healthy growth in production.

Cement output grew just 4.24 per cent to 233.3 million tone in 2012-13 compared to 7.34 per cent (228.3 m.t.) in the previous fiscal. Growth in consumption was 4.2 per cent compared to 7.1 per cent in the previous financial year. While decline in the growth of cement consumption mainly due to slow down in the real estate industry particularly, the housing segment, other factors like fall in capital expenditure, patchy implementation of infrastructure projects and rise in prices.

Over sixty per cent of the cement demand in the country comes from housing sector with rural housing accounting 40 per cent of the total. Slowdown in the housing sector in 2012-13 is mainly due to high interest rate.

The industry is also optimistic that demand for cement will surge in the near future through the revival of economic activity by the government especially through investment in infrastructure projects. A correction is foreseen in interest rates and improved regulation as regards land acquisition and environmental clearance leading to revival of several on-hold projects. Cement prices are likely to maintain an upward curve due to increasing production and ownership costs alongwith lower capacity utilizations."

Against this back ground your company continues to maintain its growth path through continued focus on operational efficiency and unrelenting sustainability effort.

Opportunity & Threats

Being a huge country, there will be a difference in the region wise demand for cement in the country which is broadly divided into the western, eastern, northern and southern regions. A rise in growth will be witnessed by the Eastern and Central regions from the lower than average levels of 6 percent in FY2011-12 to 9 percent in FY2013-14.

One of the key drivers of housing sector in the coming months would be the initiatives of the central and the state governments to promote affordable housing. Both the central and state governments are taking steps to provide low-cost housing and rural housing. In the short run, the impending general election (scheduled in mid 2014) may spur populist spending on mass housing projects.

In order to stimulate demand in an already sagging industry, the government needs to initiate certain measures in the form of providing tax incentive to the industry, reduce the overall tax value on the commodity and phase out cross subsidy on supportive components.

The government can also consider classifying cement as "Declared Goods" like steel having a uniform VAT rate of 4 percent throughout the country. In a nutshell, the government needs to support the cement industry in reviving its fortune through initiatives like reducing tax burden, providing incentives and ensuring availability of superior quality coal.

Future Outlook

Recent forecast for coming years that the cement industry will grow with a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of around 12 per cent to reach 303 million metric ton per annum in 2014. Growth in the demand for cement in 2013-14 may improve as the economy is expected to grow faster and also because the Governments policy initiative may promote housing sector. According to recent economic survey, the Indian economy may grow around 6.5 per cent in 2013-14 more than the estimated 5 per cent in 2012-13 because of easing of monetary policy by Reserve Bank of India. Recovery in the construction sector may contribute to the growth in the cement demand in 2013-14. Growth in the construction sector is expected to be 7 percent in 2013-14 compared to 5.9 per cent on the previous year.

Risk & Concern

The Union Budget for 2013-14, has outlined its focus of sustained development and need for rationalizing expenditure to enable India to get back to the 8% growth levels. The Budget has also laid special focus on social development through a number of programmes. The government has increased allocation towards various infrastructural schemes/projects. The allocation towards JNNURM and RIDF has been set at "14,873 crore and " 20,000 crore, respectively. PMGSY has been allocated Rs. 21,700 crore and allocation to Indira Awas Yojana is set at " 15,184 crore. In order to promote home ownership, an additional deduction of interest upto "1,00,000 is proposed on a housing loan upto " 25 lakh availed in FY14. The enhanced allocation to different infrastructure projects and continued focus on development of affordable housing in the country will augur well for the cement industry. However, in the Union Budget 2013-

14, the custom duty on steam coal has been increased from 0% to 2%. This will lead to rise in power and fuel cost of the cement manufacturers as many cement companies have to rely on imported coal which is negative for the industry.
