* Turnover on 9th, 10th & 11th November 2016 ignored due to exceptional events

1. The growth of the overall economy in India is expected to drive the underlying demand for commodities.
2. The increase in physical market volumes may increase the hedging requirements of industry players, which influences derivative trading volumes.
3. Commodity derivative volumes are generally a multiple of the underlying physical commodity volumes. In India, the volumes traded on commodity futures exchanges is very low as compared to the size of the physical market or the GDP for the commodity. Thus, the potential for commodity derivatives is huge.
