"Q3 FY26 continued to highlight the critical role of content in driving theatrical performance across markets," said Rajesh Mishra, Executive Director and Group CEO. "While the content lineup during the quarter was strong, the absence of a mega, star-led blockbuster during Diwali and Christmas windows, curtailed festive momentum and advertising traction. However, key releases during the quarter helped sustain audience turnout and maintain theatrical momentum. Continued strength in theatrical and content-led revenues, along with steady traction in exhibitor income and product-related activities, contributed to overall performance. With a positive content pipeline, improving advertiser sentiment, and continued focus on operational efficiencies, we remain confident about sustaining performance in the coming quarters."
