Some years ago, we resolved to reinvent our business, convinced that either we took control of it – our destiny – or someone else would. The result is evident in the numbers.

In a challenging 2012-13, the evolution was most distinctly visible, as we grew revenues by about 4% and PAT by 27% over the previous year.

The last three years have been seminal in the history of Alembic. The Company extended from Generalised therapies to Speciality therapeutic segments and launched aligned portfolios.

Launched new therapeutic divisions. Widened its regulated markets coverage. Increased product complexity. Increased the proportion of speciality products. Climbed the filing value-chain (Para III to Para IV and Para IV FTFs in the US). Doubled its API basket. Streamlined systems and processes. Strengthened its people management. The results have been explained in the following pages.

At the Company, we recognised the need for our API business to emerge integral to our organisational growth engine. So in the space of just three years, we graduated our API business into a core driver of revenues, profits and profitability.

Shift

- We widened our API presence, doubled our product basket to 60 APIs and increased our speciality products from five to 30.
- We recognised the need to be present in large, growing and quality-respecting markets. We increased our presence in the regulated and emerging markets of Europe (East and West), the Middle East, North Africa and Latin America.
- We strengthened our product offerings; we launched nine products in the emerging markets in 2012-13; we filed DMFs for six products, growing our presence in regulated markets.
- We secured business relations as primary source/alternate source vendors with more than 20% of our European clients against no such relationships three years ago.

Achievement

- We increased sales volumes of key APIs (Macrolides and Sartans) by 30-35% over the three years leading to 2012-13.
- We improved business profitability considerably in just two years.

Outlook

- We are taking our API business ahead through the commercialisation of 11 speciality APIs in 2013-14.
- We expect to add regulated market customers among whom we ourselves positioned as a primary/alternate source for APIs.
- We expect to widen our geographic diversification and acquire new clients in emerging markets.

Our competitive advantages

Rich experience: The Company possesses more than 100 years of experience in the pharmaceutical industry.

Vertical integration: The Company is vertically-integrated, which facilitates a seamless value-addition of APIs into formulations. This makes it possible for Alembic to partner global and Indian pharmaceutical players across the value chain.

Approvals: The Company's facilities are approved by authorities belonging to the regulated markets, making the products globally acceptable.

Geographic diversification: The Company enjoys a footprint across 75 nations (regulated and emerging markets). More than 75% of the export revenue of 2012-13 accrued from regulated markets accompanied by superior realisations, enhanced visibility and greater acceptance in semi-regulated markets.

Diligent research: The Company's 300-member research team developed complex products. In 2012-13, the Company launched more than 25 products for the Indian markets and over 20 products for the global markets (regulated and emerging).

Regulatory skills: The Company's regulatory skills manifested in the speed with which ANDAs, DMFs and dossiers were filed in the last three years, facilitating a strong US and European presence.

Brand recognition: The Company's four brands (Azithral, Roxid, Althrocin and Wikoryl) feature among Top-300 pharmaceutical brands. About 10 of the Company's recent launches (24 months) feature among the Top-500 launches of that period.

Financial stability: The Company possesses a robust financial foundation (gearing of 0.37 as on March 31, 2013), making it possible to finance low-cost growth.

Business model

Therapy focus: The Company is focused on expanding its therapeutic presence in high-growth Specialty therapy baskets while maintaining its presence in the Generalised therapy basket, thereby widening the opportunity canvas.

Product focus: The Company's product identification strategy revolves around those based on complex chemistry, creating high entry barriers and reducing price-based competition.

Manufacturing focus: The Company focuses on operating its plant at maximum capacity through own manufacturing abilities and catering to specific requirements for large pharmaceutical players, optimising manufacturing costs and fixed overheads.

Research focus: The Company identifies and develops genericisation opportunities, novel drug delivery systems (NDDS), new technology platforms and alternate therapies with speed. These are difficult to develop, marginalising competition clutter.

Regulatory focus: The Company's efforts are directed towards undertaking complex regulatory filings in one regulated market and leveraging that across other regulated and emerging markets with suitable modifications.

Emerging market focus: The Company focuses on widening its presence in select geographies where the product requirement is synergic with the Company's product basket and provides large opportunities.

Ten minutes with the management

“Our transformational efforts have only started yielding results. The best is yet to come.”

Dear Shareholders

IN ANY BUSINESS, COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE IS APPRAISED THROUGH THE ABILITY TO REPORT PROFITABLE GROWTH, WHEREBY A PERCENTAGE INCREASE IN REVENUES IS EXCEEDED BY A LARGER PERCENTAGE INCREASE IN PROFITS. THIS REALITY INDICATES AN IMPROVEMENT IN OVERALL COMPETENCE, TRANSLATING INTO SUPERIOR VALUE FOR OUR STAKEHOLDERS.

I am pleased to report that this is precisely what we achieved in 2012-13. Our revenues grew 4%, while our EBITDA grew 16% and net profit climbed 27% over the previous year. This indicates that we reported an improvement in the quality of our revenues, which immediately translated into higher margins and profits, kickstarting a virtuous cycle that we expect will continue to translate into enhanced organisational value.

Overview

The superior results reported by the Company represent an important inflection point in the Company's transformation journey that we embarked upon a few years ago.

Even as recent as 2009-10, acute therapies dominated our revenue basket. Research efforts were yet to add to the product basket, hence marketing remained a challenge. As a result, global presence was restricted to emerging markets. Gradually, Alembic was yielding its market position.

Alembic set out to reinvent its sectoral presence. The Company plugged key senior positions with young professionals. The research and marketing teams worked in tandem. The Company began to address unmet needs. The therapeutic coverage was widened. Complex products with high entry barriers were developed. A new regulatory filing effectiveness graduated the Company from being just another player in regulated markets to among the select few to enter segments following genericisation.

This is the result: we outperformed the average growth of the domestic formulations segment; we grew our speciality business significantly higher than the segment average; we enjoy 21-month exclusivity for a product in the US; we transformed from a domestic player into a global pharmaceutical entity.

Strengthening the business

Even as we reported superior numbers in 2012-13, we strengthened the business through various initiatives.

- We received the USFDA approval for our NDA Desvenlafaxine Base Extended Release, a bioequivalent version of the innovator drug Pristiq by Pfizer. We engaged Ranbaxy to market this product in the US.
- We filed two dossiers for complex products in Europe with high growth potential. We entered into a number of marketing alliances to accelerate sales and make it possible to replace the low-margin contract-manufacturing business with our own profitable products.
- We established a presence in Australia (through a subsidiary) to outlicense ready Market Authorisation to multiple customers. As a first step, we launched two cardiovascular products in the last quarter

We received the USFDA approval for our NDA Desvenlafaxine Base Extended Release, a bioequivalent version of the innovator drug Pristiq by Pfizer. We engaged Ranbaxy to market this product in the US.

We increased our ANDA filings of complex products where the returns shall justify the development and filing expenses; we hope to continue to work on such opportunities over the medium-term. We expect to launch 8-10 products in 2013-14.

of 2012-13. We started filings in Brazil, which should generate attractive revenue next year.

- We filed new product registrations in Ukraine, Vietnam, Uganda and Kenya for branded formulations, which should translate into revenues starting 2013-14.

These initiatives will increase and broaden base global revenues, de-risking the Company from an overdependence on a single geography.

Going ahead

In the pharmaceutical industry, success gravitates to companies that extend from relatively simple and crowded product spaces towards complex niche marked by higher product realisations. At Alembic, we expect to accelerate our growth through the following initiatives:

International generics

The US: We increased our ANDA filings of complex products where the returns shall justify the development and filing expenses; we hope to continue to work on such opportunities over the medium-term. We expect to launch 8-10 products in 2013-14.

Europe: We intend to increase the number of dossiers filed from two in 2012-13 to 10 (all complex products) in 2013-14 and emerge as the only generic player in Europe for a particular product. The additional business shall replace our low-margin contract manufacturing business, expanding margins.

Other markets: We plan to file about five or six dossiers in Brazil in 2013-14. We expect to establish an office in Brazil to accelerate filings and provide ready dossiers to customers.

In line with a need for wider and deeper marketing initiatives, we invested ₹11,000 lac and commissioned a new formulations unit, increasing our annual tablet manufacturing capacity to 5 billion.

As a result of these initiatives, we expect Alembic to generate an annual revenue increment of 30-35% per annum over the next two years and emerge as an increasingly global organisation.

Branded formulations

India: We are building on our robust Indian foundation through the proposed launch of more than 20 products a year, comprising line extensions in existing therapeutic segments and addition of new therapeutic segments. In 2013-14, we expect to reinforce our position in the gastroenterology space.

Emerging markets: We made significant inroads in emerging markets, filing more than 20 dossiers in South East Africa, Africa and CIS nations and expect these efforts to yield results by end-2014.

APIs

In the API business, we intend to exit low margin products and graduate to new profitable products with sizeable potential. This strategy has been vindicated through our growing product development volumes: we generated revenues of ₹2,500 lac in 2012-13 from the sale of development quantities to clients against less than ₹500 lac from this segment a couple of years ago, showcasing our ability to develop new products in line with evolving client requirements. We also secured approvals from large global formulators as the primary/secondary API source, which should generate attractive returns going forward.

Message to shareholders

The message that I want to send out is that Alembic is a transformed company with the first visible signs of this positive change reflected in its financials and prospects of better days ahead as the Company's volume-value strategy plays out across markets. We are optimistic that this interplay will translate into superior value in the hands of all those who own shares in our Company.

Warm regards,

Chirayu Amin

Most notable among these ailments will be those under the broad umbrella of 'metabolic disorders'. India is already home to the largest diabetic population in the world. The prevalence of diabetes is expected to rise from 2.8% in 2005 to 3.7% in 2015; coronary heart disease from 3.3% to 4.9%; obesity from 1.3% to 2.7% (Source: McKinsey)

Generics driving the global pharmaceutical industry

The expiry of patents on the one hand and a need to reduce healthcare spends are likely to drive the growth of the generics market in developed countries, while the need for affordable treatment will enhance generics usage in developing markets.

Generics driving growth

The global spending on generics accounts for 25% of the global pharmaceuticals spending (US$242 billion in CY11), growing rapidly in the last few years (~12% CAGR over CY06-11). This generics segment is expected to increase from US$242 billion to US$400-430 billion by 2016, of which US$224-244 billion of the increase is likely to come from low-cost generics in pharmerging markets.

The global spending on generics (ex-India) is expected to grow faster (11% CAGR to US$386 billion) compared to the overall global spending on medicines. The share of the top 10 Indian players is merely 1.1% of the total spending (~US$11 billion) and 3.3% of the generics spending (US$7.4 billion; ex-India), indicating attractive room for growth.

Globally competitive business models with a mere 3.3% share of the addressable market combine to provide a large and sustainable opportunity for Indian pharma companies.

Generics spending CY16E • US$415 billion

Analysis of the financial statements

Despite a challenging 2012-13, when India reported its slowest economic growth in a decade, we delivered superior numbers.

A. Analysis of the Statement of Profit and Loss

Net sales

Net sales increased from ₹1,46,235 lac in 2011-12 to ₹1,51,725 lac in 2012-13. The increase is due to the volume-value play from business transformation into niche therapeutic segments and complex products.

International Generics: While the business was at a similar level as the previous year, the quality of business improved significantly. The dossier approvals, product launches and commissioning of new capacity in 2012-13 is expected to increase business volumes over the coming years.

Domestic Formulations: The Company's business outperformed the average industry growth. This was possible due to the team's focus on the specialty business – the product basket was strengthened and marketing efforts were intensified – which more than made up for the marginal growth in the acute business. The new product launches are also expected to accelerate growth over the coming years.

APIs: The Company's successful product launches in regulated and emerging markets, its widening geographic presence and deeper penetration in existing geographies catalysed growth and profitability over the previous year.

Cost analysis

Despite persistent inflationary headwinds, increasing fuel price hikes and high interest cost, Alembic capped its operating costs increase at only 7% operating costs moved up from ₹47,947 lac in 2011-12 to ₹51,404 lac in 2012-13. Wastage elimination, cost optimisation and productivity enhancement facilitated an increase in business margins.

The key contributors to the cost increase comprised:

- Employee expenses expanded due to an increase in people to manage the growing business and increased emoluments and benefits.
- Other expenses - primarily travelling expenses, sales and marketing expenses and power costs. Travelling expenses spiraled as a result of intensified marketing which resulted in a growing business. The power cost increase was consequent to increasing power tariff and growing production volumes.
- R&D expenses increased by 26% from ₹5,858 lac to ₹7,363 lac in line with the management's focus on working on complex chemistries and challenging processes to develop niche products.

The increase in operational costs was negated to some extent due to the following reasons:

- A reduction in the cost of materials consumed due to a change in the product mix and efficient negotiations with suppliers

- A reduction in the Company's interest liability due to debt repayment and reduction in the average interest cost of borrowings

Margins

Increasing sales volume of speciality products in the domestic markets, increased product sales in lucrative regulated markets and cost containment measures contributed to a stronger EBITDA margin; a significant decline in the interest liability strengthened the Company's net margin.

B. Analysis of the Balance Sheet

Over the years, the Company adopted a prudent strategy of balancing shareholder rewards with the need to re-invest business surplus and sustain growth momentum.

Capital employed

The total capital employed in the business (networth and external liabilities) remained almost flat at ₹75,876 lac. This was due to an accretion of the reserves and surplus balance, which was offset by a decline in long-term debt and decrease in current liabilities. Accurate strategic direction and timely execution ensured that capital infused in the business was prudently utilised. Return on capital employed climbed by 668 bps from 24.72% in 2012-13 to 31.40% in 2012-13.

Shareholders' funds

Shareholders' funds increased 27.39% from ₹39,500 lac as on March 31, 2012 to ₹50,294 lac as on March 31, 2013 owing to an increase in reserves and surplus. While the Company's equity capital remained unchanged, the reserves and surplus balance grew 30.33% from ₹35,183 lac as on March 31, 2012 to ₹45,854 lac as on March 31, 2013 due to a plough back of 66.63% of the net profit earned in 2012-13. The entire reserves were free reserves which can be deployed by the Company to fund various initiatives. The book value per share strengthened from ₹20.95 as on March 31, 2012 to ₹29.60 as on March 31, 2013.

Long-term borrowings

Long-term borrowings declined sharply from ₹21,428 lac as on March 31, 2012 to ₹11,667 lac as on March 31, 2013. Long-term debt primarily comprised foreign currency loans from bank.

Short-term borrowings

The segment primarily comprised secured and unsecured working capital limits from banks to fund day-to-day activities. Despite increased business volumes and widened business presence, the Company reduced its reliance on external working capital financing. As a result, the balance under this head declined from ₹13,843 lac as on March 31, 2012 to ₹7,011 lac as on March 31, 2013.

Tangible assets

Net tangible assets grew 28.53% from ₹26,782.19 lac as on March 31, 2012 to ₹34,422.15 lac as on March 31, 2013 due to investments in a formulation unit and routine capital expenditure.

Inventories

An increase in operational scale resulted in an increase in inventory at the year-end. The balance of raw material inventory increased primarily due to a widening of the product basket and increased product filing in regulated and emerging markets. Finished goods inventory declined considerably, reflecting faster product offtake and superior inventory management. The average inventory cycle stood at 75 days of turnover equivalent.

Trade receivables

A sizeable increase in sales volumes and a widening distribution network resulted in an increase in outstanding receivables at the year end – they grew 16.82% from ₹19,933.11 lac as on March 31, 2012 to ₹23,287.08 lac as on March 31, 2013. Average receivables stood at 56 days.

Managing business uncertainties

“Man cannot discover new oceans unless he has the courage to lose sight of the shore.” - Andre Gide

Risk is the face of business uncertainty, affecting corporate performance and prospects.

As a diversified enterprise, Alembic has a systems-based approach to risk management. A combination of centrally-issued policies and divisionally-evolved procedures brings robustness to the process of risk management.

The senior management periodically reviews the risk management framework to maintain contemporariness and address emerging challenges in a dynamic environment. This prudently balances risk and reward leading to shareholder value growth.

The global economic slowdown could affect the Company's growth momentum.

The pharmaceutical industry remained largely unaffected by the economic slowdown, especially critical therapies. Alembic diversified its global presence across regulated and emerging economies, making it possible to sustain growth despite short-term slowdowns in any geography.

Besides, Alembic's focus on commercialising products in emerging therapeutic areas translated into industry out-performance. The Company focused on widening its product basket and increasing product registrations, as a result of which growth is expected to accelerate.

The Company's planned launches could be delayed, impacting growth and profitability.

The Company engaged in regulatory filings for multiple product launches across geographies. The Company's filing quality continued to be at par with leading Indian pharmaceutical companies. The recent USFDA approval for its NDA Desvenlafaxine base product in a period of 10 months stands testimony to this capability. Besides, much of the projected growth is expected to be derived from products launched or approved in the later part of 2012-13 in key global pharmaceutical markets.

A limited product pipeline could impact the Company's medium-term growth.

The Company's 300-member R&D team accelerated the development of complex products. This reflected in the transformation of Alembic's product basket for all markets APIs, branded formulations and international generics (discussed in an earlier section of this report). The team is working on a robust pipeline of complex products expected to lose patent protection between 2017 and 2020. An in-licensing agreement with Accu-Break Pharmaceutical Inc. for a novel technology will strengthen the Company's product pipeline.

Extended time to secure regulatory approvals could hamper the Company's numbers.

The pharmaceutical industry in general carries the risk of not receiving regulatory approvals from time to time. The Company's QA/QC and regulatory teams continuously work towards upgrading its infrastructure, systems and process and quality standards to match the stringent guidelines stipulated by the authorities in regulated markets approvals for its facilities from key regulated markets vindicates the Company's commitment to match global standards. Besides, the Company's expansion being brownfield in nature is not hinged on additional regulatory approvals derisking its business plans.

The risk and uncertainty over the Pharmaceutical Policy and fixation of ceiling prices for products in the market remain a risk.

The drug pricing regulator National Pharmaceutical Pricing Authority (NPPA) issued a notification to regulate prices of 150-odd essential medicines, which include painkillers, anti-infectives, antibiotics and anti-cancer, gastrointestinal medicines, anti-diabetic and cardiovascular drugs. The Company's efforts in increasing its presence in the speciality segment in India and global markets primarily regulated markets will help sustaining margins.

Internal Control Systems and Adequacy

The Company maintains a system of well-established policies and procedures for internal control of operations and activities. The internal audit function is further strengthened in consultation with statutory Auditors for monitoring statutory and operational issues. The Company has appointed M/s. Sharp & Tannan, Chartered Accountants, as Internal Auditors.

The prime objective of this audit is to test the adequacy and effectiveness of all internal control systems and suggest improvements. Significant issues are brought to the attention of the Audit committee for periodical review.

Moreover, the Company has obtained ISO 9001 and ISO 14001 certification and adheres to the Standard Operating Practices in its manufacturing and operating activities.

Human Resource Intervention in 2012-13

Reinforcing performance-based orientation and building human capital have been the focus of the Company during the year under review. Efforts at improving effectiveness and efficiency of the employees without losing the 'human sensitivity' has been a roadblock which has been successfully navigated past during this period.

Cutting across businesses and levels, your Company has been able to permeate the overall objective towards aligning the employees' efforts and stakeholders' expectations. Periodic reviews and corrective measures were undertaken primarily to encourage and direct employees.
